

LIVINGSTON PARENT LEARNING SERIES

Events for November 2021

Dear Families,

Welcome to the Livingston Parent Learning Series! From November 2021 -April 2022, the Livingston Public Schools is proud to present a series of FREE workshops to help parents/caregivers support their children's academic and social-emotional wellbeing.

Each month, we will share the list of events for the following month via the district Discover newsletter, LPS's social media platforms, and on the district website. Please read the selections below carefully, as some require pre-registration to participate.

We are excited to learn with and from you!

Sincerely,

Tanya Lopez-Gonzalez

Director of Curriculum, Instruction, and Professional Development

*Supervisor of World Languages and English
Language Learners, K-12 and ELL Teachers Michelle
Bellomo, Stephanie Brunn, Kristina Dugan, Michelle
Kang, Doreen Gugger, Sarah O'Brien, and Lucia Santarella*

When: Wednesday, November 10 (7:00-8:00 p.m.)

Location: Livingston Public Library

Registration: No pre-registration required

This presentation shares information about the English Language Learners (ELL) program in the Livingston Public Schools and ways that educators and families work together to support all learners. The Fall 2021 session is being held at the Livingston Public Library where we learn about the many resources available to assist with language learning.

Events for November 2021

SUPPORTING YOUR CHILD'S READING AT HOME (GRADES PRE-K-3)

When: Monday, November 29 (6:30-7:15 p.m.)

Location: Remotely, via Zoom

Registration: Register here by Wednesday, November 24 at noon.

Start early! In this workshop, families will learn about the science of reading and brain-friendly practices that help young children learn to read.

Whether the last 18 months have yielded a more voracious or stalled enthusiasm for reading, you will go home with practical strategies to support your child's engagement and skill development.
